

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An electric discharge laser apparatus having a laser chamber containing a laser gas and two longitudinal electrodes defining a discharge region for producing electrical discharges and a tangential fan for circulating the laser gas and having blade members configured to minimize adverse effects of reflections of electric discharge generated shock waves back to the discharge region simultaneously with a subsequent discharge.

10029319.101701